Information on the UZH Card for Students

The UZH Card for students provides proof of matriculation at the University of Zurich. It serves as your ID card throughout the University (e.g. cafeterias, examinations, ASVZ), enables access to buildings and facilities, and is also your library pass.

The UZH Card is issued for the full duration of studies. You retain your card even if you change your course of study, change faculties, or register in a continuing education degree program. You also keep your card throughout an internship, leave of absence, and mobility stays.

Should you retract your matriculation or withdraw from the University, you must return your UZH Card to an UZH Card information point.

Complete the following steps before using your new card for the first time:

Step 1: Validate your card at one of the University’s validating stations. The relevant data will then be visible in the thermal printing field (see image). Note: The UZH card cannot be validated at an ETH validating station.

Step 2: Sign your UZH Card on the back.

Renewing validity

Students must revalidate their UZH Card every semester. This is only possible after semester enrollment is complete, UZH has received the full semester fees, and from 1 February for the Spring Semester, and 1 August for the Fall Semester.
